“ *my father was such a gentle and kind man.always trying to help his fellow man.no matter what kind of background they came from.he would be the first to say lets give this person a chance.that was one reason i loved my dad so much.i wish every body could have a dad like mine,its kind of hard to right this now but,my heart is broken and i wanted everyone to know what a blessing he was to this world and how proud that he served his country and his church,which nothing made him happier than serving the lord.
