“ My dad and I didn't know each other as well as I would have liked. But now that he's gone I really wish I would have reached out more... I'm sorry dad. I miss you and I love you! You are missed very much! I wish I would have answered your last text to me! You never know when your time is up until it's too late! Anybody reading this needs to reach out to that someone in their lives that they might not talk to very much and let it be known how much you love them! When they are gone it's too late! Then your the one that has to live with those regrets! My dad was only 52 years old!! He deserved a longer life! He deserved to be happy! I'm sorry Dad! I will always love you!
