“ The blizzard of 1978. Joanne was stuck at the diner and I was home with 8 kids in West Haven. Someone brought her home. we had 8 kids between us ages 3 & 12. Amy and Mathew were almost 4 and the oldest 3 girls Lynette, Lynelle and Annette were 12 and Chuck Eric and Craig were in the middle. When the 2 day storm ended the snow drift was up to the second floor windows. It was quite the experience but all the kids were good and got alone.

“ What a beautiful tribute and oh, so, Jo. She was definitely my "other mom" for multiple years in my youth, and had an impact on my forever friendship with Lynelle. Jo cooked like a trained chef and sewed like a pro seamstress. She always welcomed me into her home. She rescued Lynelle and I by relearning how to drive a stick shift for us, and looked the other way when she knew we were just growing up. Jo always had an infectious, feisty personality, and a loving heart. I will forever miss her. God Speed, Mama Jo. xo
