“ You were my friend years ago. I used to look forward to the weekends we spent at grandma and grandpa's house that 1st year you were in the Navy. I would drive the VW down to Rosecrans and pick you up at the gate of the Naval base. We'd head up to Oceana, the retirement community where grandma and grandpa lived. It was our escape together. Life was promising. We had hope. You have battled a lot since then. I hope with all of my heart that you find peace and can let go. Rest now, John. I love you.

“ I will always remember the good times we had like playing football and basketball with Jimmy, Bruce, and Steve in the neighborhood. You always liked sports and you were very competitive. I will miss you and will always love you bro. You were MY Brother and I am proud to say that. I loved having you as my brother and you are in peace now.

“ I meet my husband on January 11,2008 he was on the corner sale-in newspapers through a program. He gave me a paper and said call me tonight I did we talked for 8 hours he told me his problems his life story I did not care cause I seen him for a person who I wanted to grow to love.. our first date was Valentine's day with the kids and the next date was ice cream.. he grew to love and care for my kids like his own.. he gave me Heck about my chargers every weekend.. we married on January 11,2011 our life began as one in the past year we have had our problems but he would text every day tell me have a good day and how he loved me and would change and win me back... I can't bring him back but I hope he does know he was my best friend and I did love him so much.. RIP my sweet love No more pain for u

“ I remember back when Lise and John lived in Escondido and we went over to visit around Christmas time. My daughter ( 5yrs old at the time) was admireing a small blue Christmas tree in the house and when John noticed he unplugged it and gave it to her. She loves that little Christmas tree and we still use it to this day.

My heart goes out to his family and friends. I will be praying for you all.
