“ So many memories of Jo, Even after I moved away and we didn't see each other much during the last 15 years, when we saw each other, spoke on the phone, sent Birthday Cards etc it always seemed like we just saw each other yesterday. I loved her so much and will miss her terribly. We spoke about 2 months ago and I told her I would probably move back to SC in a couple years. She was so excited and we both were looking forward to spending lots of time together. RIP my closest and dearest friend ever.

“ Mom, this doesn't even seem real. My heart is broken.

I miss you already, I miss harassing you about answering texts, I miss your questions about the “smart” phone. I miss you saying “hey Baby” or “nite nite” when we ended our calls. You were always my mommy. No matter how old I became, you were still mommy. Always will be. You were my biggest fan. The one who believed I could do anything.

I'm so sorry AML (leukemia) took your life so quickly. I'm sorry you felt bad. I'm sorry you had to suffer even for a second. I'm sorry that in 3 weeks time we got a diagnosis and ultimately your death.

I hope Jessica and Chloe were waiting there for your entrance into heaven.....

I will forever miss you and keep you with me.

*Love, Jenn aka pookie (even though I hated that nickname)
What I wouldn't give to hear it now.*
