“ We had to bury your body yesterday, Sister , but I know you were already with Jesus. You were a Beautiful person inside and out . I could not have asked God for a better Big Sissy . I told Kelsey I could remember so vividly my first day of school. I was almost 6, and you were almost 8 . I started crying and said sissy I don't want to go in , and you said don't worry, brother. I'll be here to get you as soon as school is over .” You were the last face I saw walking in and the first face I saw walking out . I know in the depths of my Soul that once again , your face will be one of the first one's I see standing beside of Jesus , when I hear our Father say David come Home ! I love you Sissy ! I'll see you soon !

“ Kim was like my own baby as she was my first niece born when I was 13 years old. I was a built-in babysitter and loved taking care of her. I watched her grow into a beautiful girl, teenager, and woman and have children of her own. I have a lifetime of sweet memories that I am thankful for and I am grateful for the times I spent with her. She had a sweet spirit that few others have and I still can't believe she has left this world. I miss you and love you Kim, even though I know you are in a much better place. You have left a void in our family that no one else can fill.

“ Kim was my big sister and everything that I wanted to be. She was patient, kind, and loving. She always took care of our brother and me. They were only 18 months apart but she was almost six when I was born so I was her own living baby doll and she always treated me that way. She only ever wanted me to be happy and would always give me my way and made sure that everyone else did as well. She was smart, athletic and the most beautiful woman in just about every room she entered. It always amazed me that she did it with such natural grace and an easiness that I never really had. She was never vain or conceited when she had every right to be. Men always wanted to be with her and women always wanted to be her friend. Those of us who were lucky enough to have had her in our lives have suffered an immeasurable loss from which we will never recover. She taught me about life and helped me through some of the most difficult times in mine. I can only hope that I gave her even a fraction of the love and friendship that she gave to me. I love you so much Kim and I will miss you forever.
Your little sister, Katie

SO sweet to know your feelings about your sister. She was special.

“ Kim was like a second mother to me. Jacob and I grew up as best friends when we were younger. His house was my house. Kim and David always treated me like their own son. Kim was kind, caring, and one of the sweetest people you could ever meet. I will never forget all the sleepovers, baseball games, family trips, and all the times we spent together over the years. I wish I could have caught up with her one last time now that Jacob and I have grown over the past few years. Of course life makes you become busy but us being family never changed. Mama Kim may you rest in peace and the heavens take care of you. Watch over us and may we meet again to catch up in paradise. With love always,

Nick Rodriguez.
