“ Miss Lynda was a big part of most of my days until she fell. When I would leave work in Greer she would talk to me all the way home to Spartanburg. She had a way of easing my stress and showing me love. She loved her family and spoke of them often, keeping me undated on all the new things in life and how proud she was of her grand girls. I will miss seeing her and Hobbs when I would pick up books to return. My prayers are with you all and know she was so proud of all your accomplishments .

“ I am sorry for your loss. I will miss bring out Lynda's books to her and seeing Mr. Hobbes.
I will also miss discussing new books and exchanging what books we have read. Diana the Library Lady.

“ My name is Evelyn Parks and Lynda and I had a strong friendship. We discussed books an other subjects and enjoyed each others company. As I told her granddaughter, I will truly miss my friend because we talked just about everyday and I just cannot believe that we will not be talking again. I do know that I will see her sometime in the future and I cannot wait to see her smiling face and her asking me did you do it did you every retire
