

Travis Coleman Brown

February 6, 1942 - December 31, 2022

Cowpens – Travis Coleman Brown, 80, of Cowpens, passed away Saturday, December 31, 2022.

He was the son of the late Jock and Thelma Milan Brown of Spartanburg. Mr. Brown was an inventor and master machinist in the medical industry. He was a responsible father, always providing resources, support, and encouragement to his children to push forward.

As an inventor, he was a dreamer who always enjoyed producing prototypes and products that he sold in France and the U.K. As a believer in God, he was a fighter for his rights and a problem solver who always enjoyed resolving highly technical manufacturing challenges which advanced his value to the companies he worked with.

He is survived by his daughter, Tonya Redmond of Winston-Salem, NC; his son, Randall Harvey of Illinois; his step-son, Robert Bailey of Spartanburg; his step-daughters, Brandi Reynolds and Charlotte Willard both of Spartanburg; and his brother, Jimmy Brown of Spartanburg. He is predeceased by his son, Robin K. Brown of Spartanburg.

A graveside service will be 1:00 PM Friday, January 6, 2023 at Shiloh
